With ADP and Intacct as your partners, you can focus on your people and support your business objectives while reducing administrative chores and compliance challenges.
When you lack integration between your ERP and HCM systems, your business processes can slow down due to manual data entry. Your HR and Finance staff are likely spending many hours a week re-keying or searching for important Human Capital Management (HCM) data among multiple systems, forcing more strategic activities to take a back seat.

ADP – one of the world's most innovative, comprehensive global providers of cloud-based HCM solutions – and Intacct – a leading provider of best-in-class cloud ERP software – have joined forces to help simplify your back-office processes by helping you sync employee data and post payroll entries from ADP Workforce Now® to your Intacct General Ledger. Rather than entering payroll data twice, information can now be securely uploaded into Intacct with a few clicks of your mouse — dramatically reducing the chance for errors and saving significant time and effort.

By employing this smart technology, you can:

- Help eliminate inefficiencies
- Enhance staff productivity
- Enable company flexibility for the future
- Improve the quality of reporting and analytics, with less error from manual entry

Streamlining the flow of information between your HCM and ERP applications can result in less time spent on administrative tasks and more time spent on the people who help your business grow and thrive.
