Share information instantly.

Client-facing staff can quickly pull up the information they need from the document database to deal with customer queries. Broad search capability means a user only has to type in a last name or keyword to pull up a record.

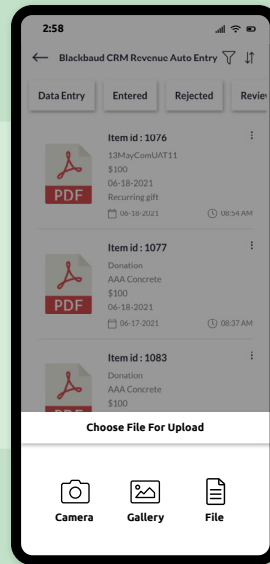

Never play telephone – never even pick up a phone.

Barriers like geography, different software, and mailing no longer separate departments with a centralized document database. Not only does this reduce business errors due to workflow automation, but it also allows comprehensive audit trails that log who accessed a document, where they were, and when they did it.

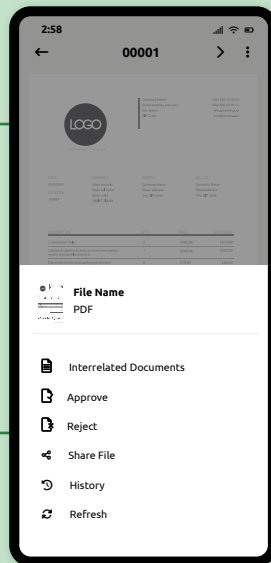

Easily upload from your smartphone.

Our mobile app uses optical character recognition (OCR) to digitize and index documents using your smartphone camera, so there's no need for a scanner if you're in a warehouse or about to step into a meeting.

Take care of accounts across time zones.

Grabbing lunch and need to send a document to someone three hours behind? The app keeps company-wide document management at your fingertips so that you can truly work from anywhere in the world.
