About Sage Intacct

Sage Intacct is a provider of cloud-based financial management and accounting software. Sage Intacct's software solution is suitable for small to mid sized accounting firms and can provide financial reporting and operational insights as well as the ability to automate critical financial processes. Sage Intacct cloud financial management solution manages all core financials and provides professional services to help implement Sage Intacct software. Sage Intacct delivers an array of core accounting applications such as a general ledger, accounts payable, accounts receivable, cash management, and order management to any accounting department or finance team. It also supports functionality for built-in dashboards, real time reporting, time and expense management, project accounting, revenue management, and global consolidations for multiple entities.

Eliminate Inaccurate Project Time Tracking and Billing

Sage Intacct is used by many organizations, including those that work on client consultancy projects. It is also a great tool for tracking income, expenses, scheduled bills or any payment made to vendors or billers. While most organizations have systems to track their assets, inventory and other resources, tracking consultants' time can be more challenging. Yet it's a pressing need, because consultants often work on multiple projects for several clients simultaneously; it becomes unwieldy trying to manage the billing process with accuracy. What's needed is a solution that can capture consultant time and project expenses, with the ability to push that information seamlessly into an accounting system for effective payment management.

Sage Intacct and Replicon – Better Together

The Replicon Connector for Sage Intacct enables you to integrate Replicon's time tracking expertise and Sage Intacct's accounting software for a seamless exchange of project, time and billing information. The result is successful end-to-end project completion and client billing for both consultant time and project expenses. Our solution is completely scalable, enabling you to capture up-to-the-minute project time, manage billable and non billable hours, and apply relevant rates to understand all costs. Leverage our enhanced capabilities around projects, costing, resources, billing, and more for all your business needs.
